

YPSW 50th Annual Meeting

January 22-24, 2025

Getting Back to our Public Health Roots: Harnessing our History in Order to Improve Our Future

The Yuma Pacific Southwest Section is celebrating its 50th anniversary. Formed in 1975 by pioneers of the modern industrial hygiene profession—George Clayton, Frank Patty, Lester and Lewis Cralley, Ralph Allan, James Sterner, Herbert Walworth—YPSW has since included virtually all leaders in the IH profession from the private, academic, and government sectors. We take pride in the section's unique membership and the legacy of opportunities we provide to our members and the profession. Our heritage and our esteemed membership roster over the past 50 years are sources of great pride.

Throughout our history, the membership of the YPSW Section has comprised many of the founders, developers, and leaders of the modern IH profession, including OSHA Directors, AIHA Presidents, Directors of Health and Safety for major corporations, and numerous others who have significantly advanced the science and art of industrial hygiene.

Below is the membership roster as of April 1976.

- Leonard Breen, Occupational Health Section, State of California, San Diego, CA
- Seymour Calvert, PhD, President, Air Pollution Technology, San Diego, CA

The first YPSW meeting was held at La Costa Hotel and Spa, Carlsbad, CA on March 4, 1976. The meeting was publicized in The Blade Tribune, Fallbrook Enterprise, and The Evening Tribune (San Diego). The Banquet speaker was Evan Campbell, the incoming AIHA President (1976).

Jennifer Sahmel, 2025 Program Chair, has developed a wonderful anniversary program focusing on our 50 years of promoting and advancing the field of industrial hygiene – “Getting Back to Our Public Health Roots: Harnessing our History in Order to Improve Our Future.” A complete description of our 2025 program is provided below.

We invite you to join your friends and colleagues at our Annual Banquet (Thursday evening) for what promises to be a memorable and joyous evening celebrating the history of the YPSW.

This year the YPSW section proudly celebrates its 50-year milestone as the premier section for industrial hygiene and occupational safety and health practitioners. To honor this significant legacy, we will hold a special banquet program led by YPSW President, Dan Anna, commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Yuma Pacific Southwest section. During this event, we will hear from longstanding members about the influence of AIHA-YPSW on the profession and their career.

The YPSW was established in March 1975 by Frank Patty, Lester Cralley, George Clayton, Florence Clayton, Lewis Cralley, and Herbert Walworth. The sought recognition from AIHA as a Local Section covering the northern part of San Diego County, CA and Yuma County, AZ. These two regions were chosen simply because they were home to the YPSW founders. On June 1, 1975, YPSW was recognized as the 36th AIHA Local Section.

Ruth Patty served as the first YPSW President, with President-Elect Herbert Walworth, Secretary Florence Clayton, Treasurer Gertrude Cralley and Directors Frank Patty, George Clayton, and Lester Cralley.

At our banquet on Thursday evening, January 23rd, we will celebrate our long term YPSW members. We hope these distinguished YPSW members in attendance will share their memories of the rich history of the YPSW.
